ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE METHOD AND APPARATUS FOR SUBSURFACE VENTING OR INJECTING IN LIQUID MOLDING

A new and improved method and apparatus for liquid resin molding, using subsurface venting is described herein. The inserts can be placed virtually any where in the mold, and vacuum or injection can be introduced to suit the part geometry. The process is to draw the resin through the mold, thereby creating a uniform wetting effect of the fabric by the resin.